as the "floating debt."

In striving to meet these obligations, and especially in securing the renewal of its notes, the Company for the past fourn onths has net with the most serious obstacles on account of the monetary situation, and in order to protect the interest of all the creditors and the road itself it was determined at the meeting of the Executive Committee yesterday to apply for a receivership. The action is a friendly one, and is brought by Trenor L. Park, who is a large holder of both the first and second mortgage bonds of the Company. not be forfeited and sacrificed in consequence of the non-payment of the inspective dabts to ascure which the same are pledged."
Upon this statement of facts Judge Lacombe, of the United States Circuit Court, to whom the application for the receivers was made, has appointed John King, the Fresident of the Company, and J. G. McCullougn, one of the directors, to take charge of the affairs of the road under the supervision of the Court.

Neither Mr. King nor Mr. McCullougi was to be found at the office of the New York, Lake Erie and Western Company, at 22 Cortlandt street, this morning. It was said that they would not probably be in town to-day, and that they were busy in attending to the affairs of the Company at the Macdonough that the receivership would not have the slightest effect on the operation of the road.

As it had been established purely in the interests and for the protection of the Company and its security holders it would probably result in the scaling down of expenses, the reorganization of the road upon a better basis than before and the securing of favorable settlements with many of the Company's creditors.

It was also stated that under the adtements with many of the descriptions.

It was also stated that under the administration of President King the operating expenses had been cut down to the lowest possible limit consistent with the proper carrying on of the business, and that the application for a receivership was in no way to be attributed to extravagance in the management.

fact, he said it had always been

In fact, he said it had always been most economical, but the burden of the floating debt which had so long been a drain upon the resources of the Company had been very much increased by the inability to secure renewals and the fear of hostile suits by creditors had finally led the directors to view a receivership as the best possible means of protecting all interests.

No information could be obtained as to the holders of the floating debt except that they were principally banks and banking houses in this city, and that the notes were all secured by collateral. The latter is said to consist of the bonds and stock of the various roads controlled by the New York, Lake Erie and Western, the sudden decline in the market price of which within the last two or three days led to the fear that they would be thrown upon the market and sacrificed.

Alexander E. Orr and William Libby, directors of the Company, were in town this morning, but they said that they had nothing further to say in regard to the affairs of the Company chan had already been officially stated.

The general impression in Wall street seemed to be that the receivership was simply a measure to enable the Company to tide over temporary difficulties.

D. O. Mills, one of the bondsmen for the Erie receiver, says of the latest development in the Company's affairs:

"Undoubtedly confidence has received another shock, but then the public must recognize the stringent times through which we are passing, and I expect to hear of other failures in the commercial world. The trouble is there is very little money, and in times like these embarrassments must be expected."

According to the last annual report of the Company the capital stock is $5,963,600, of which $5,363,600 is preferred, and $77,427,900 common. The funded debt is $5,143,855, and the annual interest charges, including incomes, amounts to $5,160,000.

For the year ending Sept. 30, 1892, the charges, including jncomes, amounts to $5,169,000.

For the year ending Sept. 30, 1892, the gross earnings were $28,633,741, and the net income $8,202,800, leaving a surplus for the year of $733,259.

The officers of the Company are: President, John King, Vice-Presidents, E. B. Thomas, George H. Vnillant and Andrew Donaldson; Secretary, A. R. Macdonough; Treasurer, Edward Whike; Attorney, J. A. Buchanan; Director, John King, William White-William, J. Low-ber Welsh, H. H. Cook, George W. Quintard, Cortlandt Parker, J. J. Goodwin, W. N. Glichrist, E. B. Thomas, Abram S. Hewkt and Alexander E. The dog seemed to be peaceful enough until last evening, when it showed its temper and began to bite.

About 8 P. M., when Kleinmeir, lightly dressed, entered the basement for the purpose of lighting up the fires, the big black dog sprang at him and bit him on the left arm.

Young Alexander Kleinmeir, who was in the basement, pulled the dog away from his father, but it broke loose and adagin attacked the old man, this time lacerating his right arm.

Then the dog was secured and chained up.

The Fraudulent Bills Have Mysteriously Disappeared.

The Special Committee of the Board f Supervisors in Brooklyn inquiring into the fraud practised on the county war veterans, for which two persons have already been indicted, continued the investigation this morning, and brought to light the most flagrant case of fraud yet discovered. The Committee took up the case of Sergt. William Kemm, a veteran of Company I, Thirty-ninth New York Regiment, for whose burial the county paid three distinct bill for $35 each. Veteran Kemm was also sergeant of Company F, of the Seventy-fifth New York Regiment.

Kemm enlisted twice and was honorably discharged each time. He was for years a member of Mattenich Post, G. A. R., and lived with his wife and children at 33 Floyd street, Brooklyn.

Veteran Kemm died at his home May Undertaker Zirkel, of $4 Throop avenue, presented a bill for 335 for the burial of Veteran Kemm, and was paid

The bill was indorsed by "Barbara
